About the Class - Matrixes

A matrix is an energetic formation held together by a belief system. Similar to the arrangement of a morphogenic field, a structure defined by its form, a matrix is comprised of components.

As such, the concept of matrix requires two things:

1. the understanding that constituents of the gross universe are surrounded by a subtle energy field
2. the understanding that everything in the universe is recognized to be something because we say so. Without our acknowledgement that it exists, it simply would not.

A human being is a complex matrix comprised of many smaller matrices such as cells. At the microcosmic level, a cell is a complex matrix: it is comprised of atoms which then comprise molecules which form a whole cell. We know that cellular activity can be influenced by emotions which implies that individual cells have sentience. So, a cell as a sentient being can be influenced through energetic interactions. In module 9 we work with the idea of facilitating shifts within the individual based upon matrix work.

From the microcosmic world to the macrocosmic world, matrices can extend to the big picture. A garden is a complex energetic structure composed of living matter – trees, plants grass, insects and more. Working with matrices can also include influencing a host of larger structures: families, businesses, towns, governments – all energetic structures comprised of sentient components held together by a belief system.

Module 9 focuses on shifting these greater structures, bringing increased awareness and understanding of their complexity.
